Travel arranged by:
All Around New England

Join us for a step back in time at Old Sturbridge Village Apple Days! Costumed interpreters and village historians will recreate harvest time in the 1830's. Throughout the weekend there will be orchard walks, craft-making, cider pressing, food demonstrations, an ox-powered cider mill, and more. In addition, of course, the entire recreated 19th century village will be available. You could visit a blacksmith shop, schoolhouse, country store, or maybe the printing office. There is something for everyone!

Since 1771, the Publick House Inn has been the lodging and dining hub for the citizens of Sturbridge and weary travelers along the Boston Post Road. It has welcomed esteemed visitors from George Washington and Benjamin Franklin to Bill Murray and John Travolta. The old world spirit continues to welcome guests with open hearths and Yankee hospitality.

Our last stop of the day will be at a local farm stand, where everyone will be given a bag of apples to take home. You can, of course, purchase many other fall treats as well.
